BUS STATION TO BE MOVED

Hotel Directs Operators To Find New Location Here by April 1.

Marion's Greyhound bus terminal operator, K. E. Smith, has been asked to vacate by April 1 the premises in the Snyder hotel building, now occupied by the bus terminal.

A letter asking for possession of the premises was received March 2, Mr. Smith said. On March 6, R. A. and C. A. Snyder of Tiffin, owners of the building, informed Mr. Smith orally that they would like to have possession of the premises by April 1.

Efforts are now in progress to secure a new terminal site, but because of the space required for parking and loading area, a suitable site has not as yet been found, Smith said.

A terminal site is being sought of sufficient size to permit incoming and outgoing buses to park off the street while loading and discharging passengers, yet sufficiently close to the business district to permit easy access by pedestrians.

Congestion at the present location, 140 North State street, caused by the arrival and departure of large buses of the four lines which the terminal serves has posed a problem for city street and traffic officials for some time.

Mr. Smith said plans to enlarge hotel facilities and the addition of a bar and grill room to the Snyder hotel were given by the building owners as the reason necessitating the move. A D-5 night club license has been secured by the Snyder hotel and redecoration and installation of bar and grill equipment is in progress in the present dining room at the rear of the lobby.

This move comes at a time when city officials and the Chamber of Commerce have been negotiating directly with bus company officials for a change in terminal facilities here to relieve congestion on State street. No connection exists between the two developments it is understood.

R. A. and C. A. Snyder, brothers and owners of the premises, could not be reached today at Tiffin for a statement of their plans for the room occupied by the bus station.

FLASHER WARNINGS IN USE AT CROSSING

Lights Installed on Route 98 Near "Five Points."

Automatic flasher warnings were placed in operation Tuesday at the Route 98 grade crossing over the New York Central and Erie railroad tracks five miles east of Marion, according to Robert F. Werner, state highway department engineer for division six, headquarters at Delaware.

The crossing is just off route 30-S, a short distance north of the "Five Corners" and on a section of the railroads over which trains maintain high rates of speed.

The flashers are augmented by short arm gates as an additional safety precaution. The installation was recommended by the state highway department and paid for by the federal government and the railroads on 90-10 per cent cost basis.

The state highway division engineer indicated that two other crossings in Marion county are to be recommended for flasher signal installations this year.

RAILMAN DIES IN HOTEL FIRE

Patroman Saves 2 as Blaze Sweeps Third Floor of Columbus Building.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 10—Fire killed a 35-year-old railroad fireman and damaged much of the third floor of the Frances apartment hotel near the union depot early today.

The victim was Robert H. Carpenter, who was found clutching a telephone in his apartment on the third floor. Fire Chief Clarence Ogborn said the fire probably was started by a cigaret in Carpenter's room.

The fire was confined to the building, but water caused considerable damage on the second floor.

Patrolman Kenneth Anderson carried a year-old baby and a man, Harry Rose, 49, who suffered a heart attack, to safety and returned to warn other residents.

The hotel has 38 apartments and 28 rooms for transients.

Eight residents were taken from a second floor offset roof on fire ladders and dozens of others made their way out through the smoke in the building.

Patrolman Anderson and his cruiser partner, Patrolman Henry Thomas, met Mr. and Mrs. John Vincent when they went to the third floor. Anderson took the baby out of the building.

Police and firemen said the death toll might have been much higher if the guests had been awake and had rushed from their rooms. The hot air in the hallways had cooled by the time they came out to escape.

More than 100 guests, including members of Ray Anthony's orchestra, were registered, but many are night workers and were away.

BONUS APPLICATIONS RUN 60 A DAY HERE

State Has Received 223,542; No Checks Written Yet.

Marion county veterans now are sending bonus applications at the rate of more than 60 a day, John R. Schwartz, county veteran's service officer, reported today. The bulk of the applications are being processed in the county veterans service office at 132 East Center street and at the Red Cross headquarters at 133 West Center street. Each office is processing about 30 applications a day. Both of these offices indefinitely will remain ready to assist the veteran with his application. Veterans organizations still are maintaining their assistance programs at their clubrooms despite the sharp decline since last week in the demand for such services.

Veterans throughout the state are sending bonus applications to the bonus headquarters in Columbus at a rate of 12,000 a day, which is far below last week's rate of 40,000 a day, The Associated Press reported. Bonus Director Chester W. Goble said last night the state received 223,542 applications between March 1 and March 8. He expects 400,000 applications, almost half the predicted total will come in during March.

"No claims have been completely processed to the check writing stage," said Goble.

Marion county veterans now living outside tha state may secure bonus application forms by writing to John R. Schwartz, Marion County Veterans Service Officer, 132 East Center street, Marion, Ohio; or blank applications may be secured for them at the office by relatives living here. As an additional service to the veterans, relatives here may notify the veterans service officer of the veteran's name and present address by calling in person or phoning 5140, and the service officer will forward application forms to the veteran by mail. Full instructions for processing the application are included on the application form, Mr. Schwartz said.

Urges Italy's Clergy To Stress Importance of Elections April 18.

By The Associated Press

VATICAN CITY, March 10 — Pope Pius XII, in his annual Lenten address to the Rome clergy, told them today it is their right and duty to impress upon Catholics "the extraordinary importance" of Italy's elections April 18.

This is considered the pontiff's reply to his critics in the Communist-dominated "Popular Front" who for weeks have been charging that the church is improperly and illegally intervening in politics.

The Pope's speech, the most forthright political pronouncement yet, placed his personal prestige squarely behind the efforts of Italy's cardinals, bishops and priests to mobilize Catholic votes to defeat the left in the coming parliamentary elections.

The Pope said the church "remains outside and above political parties."

But, he asked, how could it remain indifferent to the makeup of the Italian republic's first parliament if the parliament is to legislate "in matters which so directly affect the highest religious interests and the conditions of the life of the church itself in Italy?"

He said Catholics must vote for candidates who safeguard the rights "of God and of souls, for the true God of individuals, of families and of society, according to the law of God and Christian moral doctrine."

The Pope, however, warned priests "not to stoop to minor questions of political parties, to harsh factional contests which irritate spirits, sharpen discord, impede charity, and impair your very dignity and the efficacy of your holy ministry."

Earlier in the address the Pope said that nations promise [illegible] much than of the spirit. Only then [illegible] for complete [illegible]

Old Underground Railroad Station On Ohio Restored

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 10—One of the best known stations on the underground railroad of Civil War time has been restored.

The Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society announced today that several years of work had been finished on the home of Rev. John Rankin, famous abolitionist, in Ripley, on the Ohio river between Portsmouth and Cincinnati.

The home will be opened formally as soon as refurnishing is complete. Maps, letters, and other documents of the period when many Ohioans helped escaping slaves make their way from the south to northern safety will be placed on exhibition.

The restoration work has included removal of three rooms and a porch which had been added. This disclosed the outline of the old front door. Doors cut through the original walls have been bricked up and modern fire grates have been replaced with old fireplaces.

Old type sash, with nine panes above and six below, have been installed in the windows, and an opening has been made in the hallway wall to show the old split lath and studding. Old wallpaper has been uncovered.

REDS QUIZ GIRL OF U.S. SOLDIER

Friend of Man Russian Guards Shot Seized While Rendering First Aid.

(Picture on Page 3)

By The Associated Press

VIENNA, March 10 — A 19-year-old Austrian girl, her face still swollen from the blow of a Russian gun butt, said today she underwent grueling questioning by the Russians after her American companion was shot in the back by a Soviet sentry.

Red-haired Elfriede Elias said she was seized by the Russians while trying to give first aid to Pfc. Jack Grunden, 18, of Portland, Ore., the unarmed American who was beaten and shot in a scuffle with Russian soldiers Sunday night.

She said she was taken through a back door of the Russian-occupied Grand hotel and driven to Russian headquarters. There, she said, she was questioned three times by Russian officers before being released Monday night.

Miss Elias said she had signed a statement dictated by the Russians, and was warned:

"If you tell another story to the Americans later on, we will find you, wherever you are, and then you will see what happens to you."

Her story of the incident, as told The Associated Press, has been confirmed by Grunden, now recovering in the 110th station hospital. This is her version:

Her Story

Three American soldiers were walking with their Austrian girl friends along the sidewalk of the parkway bordering the Grand hotel. Pfc. Joseph Harper (address unavailable) and his girl were leading. Following at some distance were Pvt. Samuel Adelman of Baltimore, Md., and his girl. Grunden and Miss Elias were some 30 yards behind.

A Russian soldier, apparently off duty, ordered Adelman off the sidewalk into the gutter. Grunden saw the argument and rushed up. At the same time a Russian sentry rushed over from the front of the hotel.

The sentry attempted to hit Adelman in the groin with the butt of his rifle. Grunden tried to wrest the weapon away. Grunden was struck on the head with the gun and knocked to his hands and knees. The Russian then shot him in the back.

Harper and his girl raced to the American-occupied Bristol hotel and called for the international military police patrol and an ambulance. When the police arrived, Miss Elias was trying to give first aid to Grunden. She was grabbed by a Russian captain and hustled toward the Grand hotel.

Ernie Reed, a Stars and Stripes reporter, pulled the girl away from the Russian and called for the police for help. But a cordon of Russian soldiers, bayonets fixed, seized the girl and took her screaming into the hotel.

The police later told Reed they were unable to interfere, although the four-power patrol is supposed to have full authority in any case involving allied soldiers.

The Red Army newspaper in Vienna, Oesterreichische Zeitung, gave the Russian version today. It is totally different from any of the others thus far advanced.

The newspaper said the three Americans were trying to force their way into the Grand hotel. It said they "dragged the Russian sentry 10 feet from his post," and that the sentry then acted "in full accordance with his instructions."

U.S.-RUSS HARMONY ON PALESTINE SLIPS

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, March 10—The much-heralded U.S.-Russian agreement on Palestine partition appeared today to be crumbling.

A battle of words outside United Nations chambers yesterday spotlighted their current differences over the political future of the Holy Land. It was the sharpest split on the issue between the two powers since last November when they pushed the partition plan through the U.N. assembly.

The core of the verbal tussle was American insistence on bringing the Arabs, bitter foes of partition, into United Nations consultations. So far the Arabs have boycotted every discussion of the splitup scheme. The Jews accept the plan to create Jewish and Arab nations by next Oct. 1.

DELAY ACTION ON BIBLE CLASS

Classes Here May Continue Until End of Present School Term.

As far as it is known here, weekday classes in religious education in Marion public schools will continue until the end of the school term, or "until something further develops," Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of city schools said today. He added that no official information from any source has been received here concerning the U. S. supreme court's decision against teaching of religion in the public schools. In the meantime, state and national religious education councils are studying the court's ruling.

Leaders of the Ohio Council of Churches, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Columbus, are "a bit downcast over the supreme court ruling against week-day religious education classes," they marked time today until they found out what it was all about.

The court Monday ruled it is unconstitutional to use the public school systems to help any religious group spread its faith.

Until a clear-cut procedure is determined, council leaders advised continuation of such classes in Ohio.

They said these classes now reach 73,517 school children in 68 Ohio school systems.

Action Deferred

While the Ohio Council was deferring action for the time, leaders of the International Council on Religious Education met in Chicago in emergency session to consider effects of the decision.

The Ohio Council of Churches said constructive suggestions for action would be made after clarification of the decision is made public.

In Marion, Superintendent Dickey pointed out that teachers of weekday religious education are under contract for the school year to the Marion County Council of Churches to carry on the religious instruction in the schools.

RAIL FACT FINDERS TO END HEARINGS

By The United Press

CHICAGO, March 10 — An emergency fact-finding board appointed by President Truman completes its hearings today on a dispute between the nation's railroads and three railroad workers unions.

The board will review the testimony taken since the hearings began last Feb. 2 and report its findings to Mr. Truman on March 27.

The emergency group was appointed Jan. 27 after Alvanley Johnston, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, announced his union and the Brotherhood of Enginemen and Firemen and the Switchmen's Union planned to strike.

Under the national railway labor act, the fact-finding board has 30 days in which to hold a hearing and make a report.

No strike can begin during that time or during an additional 30-day "cooling off" period which follows.

Two days after the hearings began, the three unions, which represent 125,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen, agreed to extend the hearings until today to permit "full and adequate hearing of the issues."

The dispute began last fall when five operating brotherhoods, representing about 350,000 workers, asked for a wage increase of 30 per cent and for the adoption of 44 changes in the working rules. The railroads, in turn, asked that 25 of their own proposed changes in rules be adopted.

Negotiations on the changes began on Oct. 7 and in the early part of November the wage issue was included in the

FOUNDER'S SON DIES IN LEAP FROM WINDOW

Cabinet Member Criticized for Serving with New Red Rule Is Suicide.

By The Associated Press

PRAGUE, March 10 — Jan Masaryk, non-party foreign minister in the new Communist government, killed himself today in a leap from his third story office, the government announced. He was 61.

(Gen. Lev. Prchala, a Czech resistance leader in London, commented: "Suicide? It is possible.")

Masaryk was the son of Thomas Masaryk, founder and first president of the republic. His death took from the Communists the use of the distinguished name. The controlled radio said Masaryk "must have been seriously aggrieved and wounded by the malicious, tendentious attacks made upon him by the western press."

Officials of the foreign ministry, after a period of reluctance to confirm the report, finally announced Masaryk had died at 3 a. m. The government broadcast at noon officially announced the death. It followed the announcement with the solemn requiem music of Anton Dvorak, the great Czech composer. The government delayed without explanation foreign news agency telegraph circuits for 30 minutes.

Vaclav Nosek, minister of interior, told the purged parliament Masaryk hurled himself from his bathroom window. He said the foreign minister had spent the night reading letters and telegrams from England and the United States attacking him for continuing in the Communist government. Numerous cigaret stubs were found on the desk, Nosek said.

All the new cabinet attended the session. A wreath of roses and lilies lay on the bench where Masaryk would have sat.

Masaryk last appeared publicly Sunday. He looked harassed, haggard and worried.

The controlled press had quoted him as telling Czechoslovak army officers last Thursday.

"You can count on me, I am one of you. * * * We must have unity with the Soviet Union. Our place is at their side. We must be grateful if Russia allows us to be there. We made a bloodless revolution and have entered a new phase of history."

Even while Masaryk's body was borne from the courtyard where he fell, Dr. Prokop Drtina, who was minister of justice in the previous cabinet with him, was convalescing from head injuries sustained in what police said was a three-story plunge from his villa.

Czechoslovaks gathered in little knots discussing Masaryk's death. It was a shock to those who regarded him as a possible balance wheel for the country. It was a blow also to those who believed he might be helpful in getting them out of the closely-guarded country legally. Masaryk once helped 5,000 Jews escape from German occupation forces.

Illness Reported

The government announcement said Masaryk had "suffered an illness, coupled with infirmity, and it seems probably that in a moment of nervous disturbance, he jumped out a window in his official flat in the (Czernin) palace."

"Right to the last minute, he showed no sign of depression," the announcement said. "To the contrary he was full of lively optimism. The circumstances are being investigated."

The government said Masaryk "voluntarily took his life." The foreign minister had suffered from bronchitis recently.

Communist Premier Klement Gottwald made no immediate statement. Nor did ailing President Eduard Benes, who acceded to Communist demands for control.

The radio account said half of the text of a speech Masaryk was to have made tonight to a Polish-Czech friendship meeting was on his desk.

Mother an American

Masaryk's mother was an American, the former Charlotta Garrigue of Brooklyn. He was born in Prague. He lived in New York for a period before World War I, working as an office boy, plumber's assistant and a piano player in a movie theater. He boasted that he knew every alley of New York between Third avenue and the East river.

He spoke often of his American mother. He credited her with having helped to formulate his father's political creed. The couple, he said, worked out the pronouncement that "a nation that is not founded on truth does not [illegible] the motto: "Truth Conquers."

SEEK OPINIONS ON HOSPITAL

C. of C. Wants Expression of Views on Project To Increase Facilities.

A plea for the expression of public opinion on the Marion hospital problem headlines the March News Bulletin of the Chamber of Commerce.

Going on the facts that building tomorrow's city is today's responsibility and that the lack of adequate hospital space and modern technical facilities may cost lives, the Chamber squarely faces the issue and asks for opinions on whether a new hospital or an addition to the present non fire resistant building should be built.

Residents are asked to write or call city or county official, planning commission or Chamber of Commerce giving their views on the situation. The chamber points out that to qualify for federal aid, a program must be planned at once. This means that it must be first ascertained what the people want.

Coming Events

On the Chamber's calendar of coming activities are listed several dinner and civic meetings of import. One of these is the Manufacturers Fellowship Dinner scheduled for 6:30 p. m. March 31 at the Masonic Temple. Speaker will be W. A. Blake, director of labor relations for Inland Steel Co., of Indiana Harbor, Ind. Mr. Blake is also a veteran football referee in the Big Nine conference. He will speak on "What Goes on in the Huddle of Men."

Another headline meeting will take place March 23 when C. & O. and Pennsylvania railroad officials will meet with city and Chamber representatives to report on the railroads investigations and plans for grade crossing elimination here.

Still another is the Marion Foremen's club "ladies night" dinner set for April 8. Guest artist will be Virginia Sale who will entertain with her widely known American character sketches. Miss Sale is on a personal tour, leaving Hollywood character roles in the films.

Directories Due Soon

According to the latest information the Chamber has received the R. L. Polk & Co. Marion directories will not be available for another 30 days. In response to a letter by Chamber Secretary H. E. Webster, the company reported the Marion directory is being given first priority in handling.

The monthly report of business factors as compiled by the Chamber shows bank debits of $25,466,355 for February as against $27,552,528 a year ago. Postal receipts totalled $25,025 last month against $19,738 for the corresponding period in 1947.

New car sales reached 83 in February, one less than cars sold last February and 30 less than were sold in January 1948. Other comparisons with figures of a year ago include water meters, 8,676 against 8,385; gas meters, 10,447 against 10,220; electric meters, 10,757 against 11,085; prepaid sales tax (county) $14,250 against $10,746; industrial employment, 9426 against 10,060; relief cases, 149 against 101 and real estate transfers, 143 against 201.

WALDO CLASS MEETS

The evening was spent socially with prizes in games and contests going to Barbara Smith, Harold Demorest, Walter Rinehart, Jim Clunk, Dick Smith and team captained by William Clunk. CHRIST in You, THE HOPE of Glory

SOVEREIGN GRACE FROM A TREE

Luke 23:34. "Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. And they parted His raiment, and cast lots."

THE first thing Jesus did as He hung upon His cross was to seek forgiveness for those who had placed Him thereon. He interceded for pardon for His enemies in virtue of His blood now flowing. There was forgiveness with Him that He might be reverenced.

What supreme magnanimity! What triumph it was when, in spite of agony of body, He could yet realize the Fatherhood of God and plead for the forgiveness of a Fatherly heart, as He died! In the morning of His Life, His heart was warmed with the thought of a Father's love. Now, in the blackest hour of life, faith does not fail, for He is still able to say, "Father."

We are commanded to forgive one another even as God, for Christ's sake, hath forgiven us. Our participation of the forgiveness of the Cross demands that we forgive until seventy times seven.

CRESTLINE GIFT LOTS PLACED ON RECORD

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE—The plot of the proposed Michael Bibich subdivision, 28 residential lots offered to Crawford county veterans by the Crestline philanthropist last summer, has been presented for record at the county recording office in Bucyrus.

The subdivision plans include a circular recreation lot 80 feet across in the very center of an area, surrounded by eight lots, each with 100 to 110 foot frontage facing outward on the circular "Bibich court," a drive will be approached by a 186 foot entryway from the east. Twenty-one lots, each with a 50 to 58 foot frontage, will face inwardly upon the court, and a larger recreation area is to be located in the southwest corner of the division. Bibich will keep four of the lots located near the entrance drive, which opens east upon South Thoman street. The subdivision is located in the south part of Crestline, the southern boundry being a part of the corporation line. The gift has been dedicated by the owners, Mary and Michael Bibich, and has been approved by the village engineer and the Crestline council.

Dickey Discusses School Program at Silver Street

A program of school improvements for the city of Marion and for Silver Street school in particular was discussed by Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of the Marion City schools, last night at a meeting of the Silver Street P.-T.A.

Mystery Comedy Cast Rehearsing Play Parts

Rehearsals are in progress for the junior play to be presented by pupils of the Edison Junior High school April 23 in the school auditorium. "Home Sweet Homicide" is the play chosen by the group.

Based on the book bearing the same title, the story centers around the Carstaire family, the mother and her three children. The mother, a mystery story writer, is very busy when their neighbor is murdered and her children try to arrange things so she will get credit for solving the mystery. Although the plot centers on the mystery there is a generous amount of comedy throughout.

Directed by Miss Barbara Axe, a member of the school faculty, the cast includes Rita McPeek, Ronnie Cox, Patsy Duckworth, Elfrieda Rech, Louise Lamb, Ann Shaffer, Dick Clark, Bill Buckingham, Bob Boulton, Don Johnson, Jack Bishop, Clyde Seedle, Wanda Dennis, Bob Rinesmith, LeRoy Lumpkins, Robert Yazel, John Ault, Norma Cramer and Joyce Roberts.

MARION ARMY DAY OBSERVANCE SET

To Join with Nation in Celebration on April 6.

When the nation observes Army Day Tuesday, April 6, Marion will be host to reserve units of the army from nine counties. Highlight of the day's activities, some details of which are still to be worked out, will include a parade, John H. Mills, army advisory committee chairman, announced today from the unit instructor's office at 188 South Main street.

Pointing out that President Truman in a special proclamation, has called upon the governors to issue similar proclamations to pay suitable honor to the Army and the millions of Army veterans, Chairman Mills said that this year's celebration, the third since the end of World War II, "is of greater significance than ever before for the global conflicts in the past four decades have taught the world that any aggressor who embarks upon world conquest, must make the United States its first objective."

Men who had known the horrors of World War I originated the idea of Army day in 1928. They felt that something should be done to bring to the attention of the American public the vital role which their Army played in maintaining the position of this country in the world. Congress was approached, and a house resolution was finally passed establishing Army Day.

The theme of Army Day is "A Strong America Is a Peaceful America." The President's proclamation calls for "appropriate recognition to the Army which throughout our history has preserved our way of life by conspicuous skill and gallantry," and mentioning its component parts: the Organized Reserve, the National Guard, and the Regular Army, the proclamation points out that if soldiers on duty are to be successful they must know that back of them they have "the wholehearted support of our people."

RECREATIONAL GROUP DISCUSSES PROGRAM

12 Committeemen Map Plans at Meeting Here.

The steering committee for the organization of the Coordination Council for Recreational activities for Youth met Monday night at 7:30 p. m. at the offices of the Marion Water Co. 195 East Center street with 12 committeemen present.

The mailing of a letter and questionnaire to all civic groups and organizations in Marion interested in youth recreational activities was approved. The questionnaire will contain two questions. They are: "What recreational activities does your group now sponsor, and what do you think are the most urgent recreational needs of the community?

The letter accompanying the questionnaire will explain the function of the proposed recreational council as suggested by results of investigations by the steering committee, and will suggest the naming of a delegate to the organization receiving the letter. These letters will be mailed next Tuesday.

T. A. Allen, steering committee chairman, said, "The committee will recommend to the coordinating council the giving of all support possible to existing agencies and promotion of additional activities where a need for them exists and where groups can be found to sponsor them." Upon completion of the organization of the coordinating council the steering committee will adjourn permanently, he said.

Jan Masaryk Takes Own Life

tals to news of Masaryk's death was stunned amazement A British foreign office spokesman said "nothing could more clearly demonstrate" the character of recent events in Czechoslovakia Dean Atcheson, former U S under secretary of state said "I am saddened not only by the tragic circumstances which brought about his death, but by the sorrow which must have preceded it"

Interior Minister Nosek's report to parliament said messages from the U. S and England had attacked Masaryk for his "manly stand"

Gottwald spoke for almost an hour, but made no mention of the dead minister, whose seat was two places from his own The premier described the new Communist program and asked for a vote of confidence

Gottwald looked sad It appeared he might have been crying

Flags were placed at half staff throughout the country at the government's order

He who controls the police told parliament Masaryk "had no enemies in our nation among the people.

His recent utterance, 'I will go with the people,' will be recalled," Nosek said "The investigation thus far has shown that it was a voluntary death"

He said Masaryk and the new Polish ambassador called on Benes yesterday and that Masaryk later remained for an audience

"He left in a satisfied mood," Nosek said During the afternoon, Masaryk showed no signs of depression, he went on

Victim of Insomnia

"In the consequence of his deteriorating illness—he suffered from insomnia—and during last night, a nervous crisis set in," the interior minister continued. "A number of cigaret stubs were found on his desk, indicating he had been awake all night and he must have succumbed to a fit of sudden depression

"A great fighter for the cooperation of peace loving nations is lost in Masaryk He belonged to the people and the people loved him He became the object of malicious attack from foreign reaction. A good man has left us"

The parliament which listened had 47 other empty seats Attaches said some members had been excused for illness and that others are "under arrest"

Last Public Appearance

Masaryk's last public appearance was in the old Town Square Sunday, when he attended a combined celebration of the 98th birthday anniversary of his late father and the 30th anniversary of a battle in which Czech and Russian troops fought side by side

His body was found in the palace courtyard at about 8 a m It was carried away quickly Neighbors said the lights in Masaryk's offices burned all night

Masaryk occupied a small and unpretentious apartment in the lavish foreign office - czechin palace

His sister, Alice Masaryk, lives in a home near the palace Another sister, Mrs Olga Revillod, lives in Geneva Switzerland

Son of Nation's Founder

Masaryk, son of Thomas G Masaryk liberator, founder and first president of modern Czechoslovakia, became foreign minister of the Czech government in exile on July 8, 1940 After his country was freed from the Germans in 1945 he returned there and has held the foreign affairs post since

A non-party man, he was retained as foreign minister when the Communists took over the government on Feb 25 There were rumors soon after he had been imprisoned The Communist press denied these rumors

The foreign minister, suffering from bronchitis, remained in sick bed during the recent government crisis and refused to see reporters

His retention in the cabinet was considered by some to be a political maneuver by which the Communists hoped to trade on the name of his father

Target of Bomb Plot

A bomb plot against Masaryk's life was foiled last September The conspiracy failed when explosive parcels were found in the mails addressed to Masaryk and two other Czechoslovak officials

A number of Communists were reported to have been held on charges of making the bombs

Masaryk was considered last September as a possibility for the president of the United Nations assembly sessions He headed the Czechoslovak delegation to the assembly.

While Masaryk was in New York, dispatches from Prague reported attempts by the Communist party to put representatives of so-called Communist front organizations into the government in the face of opposition from other parties.

Questioned by newsmen about the crisis he said "I feel constitutional, democratic and parliamentary processes must be maintained" in Czechoslovakia

Earlier, in 1945, Masaryk headed the Czechoslovak delegation to the San Francisco conference which founded the UN

Masaryk was born Sept 14 1886 in Prague He completed his education at Charles university, Prague Later he studied in Boston.

He made his first visit to the United States in 1907, and worked for Charles Crane, the father of Richard Crane, who became first U S minister to Czechoslovakia He remained in the United States until 1912

During the First World War he served with the Austro-Hungarian army and was discharged with the rank of first lieutenant.

At 61, Masaryk was a real statesman who spoke in several languages His famed bushy mustache was a type he wore for 40 years was almost a Masaryk trademark

MacArthur Is Available

THE availability of Douglas MacArthur for a presidential nomination, if one is offered to him, isn't likely to change the pre-convention prorpect.

Gen. MacArthur has added his name to the list of candidates whose hope of nomination lies in the possibility that Senator Taft and Governor Dewey, who will have the bulk of the delegates, may get into a deadlock. His status in that respect is no different from what it would have been had he made no announcement. Only two things could make it different.

One would be a wave of popularity like that which Gen. Eisenhower refused to encourage when he said military prestige and political ability shouldn't be confused. The very fact Eisenhower put it that way discounted the MacArthur announcement of availability before it was made.

The other would be a demonstration of pulling power in the primaries, and there is no present indication that Gen. MacArthur has the kind of closely organized support to stage such a demonstration. The leading contenders, Senator Taft and Governor Dewey, have spent years in building up the acquaintanceship of party leaders while qualifying themselves by day-to-day performance of administrative and legislative tasks. Of the waiting-for-the-lightning-to-strike candidates, Gen. MacArthur is the weakest on a political basis.

There is no reason, of course, why he shouldn't be available for any eventuality. But under existing circumstances, there is no good reason for thinking his announcement of availability will make any real difference in the pre-convention prospect. He may pick up a few delegates but it's impossible to see how he can pick up enough delegates or enough momentum to make a real run for the nomination.

Won't They Ever Learn?

"THE PAST is prologue. To know the future, study the past." That has been a maxim of historians since Herodotus. The Russian leaders ought to read it.

In recent days, two European conferences have reached agreements on a western European union and the incorporation of a democratic Germany into the community of free peoples. Of this last conference, Ambassador Douglas observed that more progress had been made in 10 days than had been made in the three preceding years.

It isn't coincidental that this sudden accord followed Russia's latest move in Czechoslovakia. It has ever been the nature of people and nations to coalesce against aggression.

The Athenians, the Thebans, the Spartans and the Corinthians all were whittled down to size by coalitions when they got too tough.

In the memory of living men, Bismarck knew the danger of coalitions and that was what made him a great diplomat. He devoted his life to promoting Germany's interests while preventing dangerous coalitions. When young Kaiser Wilhelm came to power in 1890 he fired Bismarck and within months France and Russia had drafted a military alliance. The kaiser needled Britain, worried France and annoyed Russia, causing resentment and suspicion until war was inevitable.

Hitler resumed the same tactics even less subtly, harping on "enemies on our borders," "plotters against the fatherland," and "those who would destroy Germany."

Now Stalin and his henchmen are using the same paranoiac complaints of persecution, the same aggressive moves. Those tactics are meeting the same opposition they always have met—coalitions of peoples who aren't taken in by promises of happier lives under the beneficient conqueror, even when he dons the guise of an emissary of the 'dictatorship of the proletariat."

Strike in Australia

EASTERN Australia has been in the throes of a railroad strike involving federal and state labor governments and a nationalized rail system.

When the workers rejected the arbitrators' decision, police began arresting pickets, workers were ordered to return to be dismissed, replacements were hired and unemployment compensation was halted for strikers.

The lesson in this is that labor governments and nationalized utilities also owe their first loyalty to the people as a whole. That also is being proved in Britain where the labor government has clamped on wage freezes and other restrictions over union protests. It was proved in France in 1910 when Aristide Briand, a premier of Socialist background, smashed a rail strike by arresting the leaders and drafting the workers into the army.

Responsible democratic government, under whatever label it operates, must subordinate special interests to the welfare of all if it is to survive.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

The Condon Case and the Withheld Letter.

PRINCIPLES of administrative conduct are involved in the Condon case which transcend the learned doctor, the secretary of commerce and even the President himself.

1. Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the national bureau of standards is accused by the FBI and the Thomas committee of serious indiscretion in the performance of his public duty and his private life related to public duty. So far as the public knows, he is accused neither of disloyalty nor espionage. Nevertheless, it is known, from the general tenor of the gossip attending the special federal grand jury, sitting in New York, that there has been disloyalty and espionage in connection with the atom bomb. That makes any reference to an individual in connection with the atom bomb significant.

SOKOLSKY

2. In relation to the Condon case, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, addressed a letter to Averell Harriman, secretary of commerce, in whose department the bureau of standards is situated. Dr. Condon is, therefore, an employe of the American people, receiving a salary from their agent, the treasury of the United States.

3. Averell Harriman refuses to release the letter in "the public interest." He does not state what the public interest is but requires that the Thomas committee accept his obiter dictum as final. Mr. Harriman is neither by the Constitution nor by his personal qualifications entitled to determine this question alone.

The power of congress to investigate the conduct of employes of the American government is so well established by law and precedent that Mr. Harriman's attitude can only be described as presumptuous. Congress will without doubt take care of that in the proper lawful manner.

4. Only Secretary Harriman, Attorney General Tom Clark or the President can order the letter to be made public. J. Edgar Hoover, a subordinate of the attorney general, is not in a position to make it public without the attorney general's consent. Therefore, the letter remains secret because Averell Harriman, Tom Clark and the President wish it to remain secret. That letter from J. Edgar Hoover to Averell Harriman must contain some extremely important data to have frightened these gentlemen into making it an issue in an election year.

It throws additional light on the conduct of the special federal grand jury in New York and the many rumors concerning the quarrel between the FBI and the White House as to what national security really requires. Certainly the report that three top persons who were members of the Communist cell organized in 1934 have been let off despite FBI evidence is startling. Yet, it must be noted, none of these rumors, mounting to a furor, may be true.

5. It is because of the queer rumors concerning the special federal grand jury in New York and speculation concerning the Hoover-Harriman letter, that Dr. Condon, if he possesses all the virtues that he claims for himself, should demand its immediate publication. As a volunteer public relations counsel, I advise him that he will be suspected all his life unless that letter is published. No other means can exonerate him. No specially created government agency can exonerate him. Only publication of the Hoover-Harriman letter can lead to exoneration—if it does Secretary Harriman has done Dr. Condon incalculable mischief by his presumptuousness in refusing to produce the letter. The conclusion must be, until the letter is published, that Dr. Condon and Mr. Harriman fear it.

6. The atomic scientists have set themselves off as a class apart, demanding privileges which are not available to Americans of other occupations. Exemption from suspicion and attack is no one's right, certainly not anyone on the public payroll. It is the American way of protecting the country from corruption. It is a better way than the Gestapo or the G.P.U. employed.

Every man in public life must submit to constant scrutiny. Even in private life, such scrutiny is constant. Credit bureaus, Bishop's, Proudfoots, Dun and Bradstreet's exist for such purposes. The character committees of bar associations exist for that purpose. The atomic scientists had better get off their high horses or we shall have to regard them not only as great brains but also as swollen heads.

To Love, Honor and Grapple With?

A Chicago woman has filed suit for divorce against her husband, a professional wrestler, on grounds he used her to practice on.

Their romance went one fall to a finish.

She had, not the skin he loved to touch, but the shoulders he liked to pin.

She promised to stick to him in sickness and health, but not in any half-nelsons.

It was brutal and savage and unromantic. And besides he was out of her weight class.

She doubtless had heard of Lady Wrestlers. But naturally never figured him to be one.

A woman just doesn't feel safe around a man whose idea of a fond embrace begins with a hammer-lock and culminates in a flying mare. When she's in the mood to whisper sweet nothings in his ear, she wants it to be something a little more sentimental than, "Calf Rope."

What Can We Guarantee?

By Raymond Moley

LOOSE talk attributed to Ambassador Lewis Douglas about guarantees to western Europe reminds me of a bit of hitherto unpublished Roosevelt history. In 1934 and 1935, Huey Long was undisputed dictator of Louisiana. He was also a source of great worry to the man in the White House. On one occasion, in a conversation with two people, Roosevelt discussed, tentatively and speculatively, the idea of using his power to restore to Louisiana the status of a truly representative government. This he suggested he could do under Article IV, Section 4 of the Constitution which says, "The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union a Republican form of government."

MOLEY

One of those present at this conversation who was, incidentally, later appointed to a very high office, dissented sharply, mainly on practical grounds. Roosevelt made no public statement on the question of intervention, but he probably played with the idea until the death of Huey Long.

An Actual Dictator

In those days there was no doubt about the absence of real republican government in Louisiana. Long was ruler of the state. Although he was a senator of the United States, he sat beside the speaker in legislative sessions and ordered the passage of laws. He sat in the governor's office at times and ordered the official stooge to enforce such laws. He openly selected professors in the university without consulting the trustees or the president. He was the whole show, and he was backed by as tight and powerful a machine as ever existed.

The difficulty in any action on the constitutional provision quoted above is, as Roosevelt's friend suggested, to find a practical means of enforcement. When can it be said that a state ceases to be republican? What if the people in open and free elections hand over power to a single party machine? What if the forms of republican government remain, but one man calls the plays?

The Bases of Guarantees

Can the president move in with the Army? Must congress be consulted? The Constitution says no congress or the president, but the United States shall guarantee republican government.

Hitler kept the Weimer constitution and reduced the Reichstag to a rubber stamp. The Czechoslovak constitution still stands. Finland is one of the most authentic democracies in the world. President Paasikivi will probably remain and will possibly agree to Stalin's terms. But the major decisions in the Finnish government may be made in Moscow.

What can we do about it? What can we do if the heat is next felt in Sweden, another authentic democracy? It is true that Douglas seems to be talking about guarantees against invasion. But Soviet policy requires no armed invasion. It involves the ascent to power of local Communist parties, as in Czechoslovakia and other satellite nations.

When we speak carelessly about guarantees, we may be raising hopes we cannot fulfill. If we cannot enforce our own Constitution regarding an American state, we should be slow to talk about guarantees abroad.

Eclipse Lifts Curb On Jap Scientists

TOKYO—For the first time since the end of the war, Japanese scientists are going to be allowed to take part in an international study next May.

A party of 100 astronomers, geophysicists, and meteorologists have been granted permission by Gen. MacArthur's headquarters to observe the eclipse of the sun on May 9.

They will pack off to Rebun island, 60 miles west of the northern tip of Hokkaido. Their observations will be co-ordinated with others along the path of the eclipse in Burma, Siam, China, Korea and the Aleutians.

In the Russian Skies

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

THE military phase of the Soviet western conflict has clearly begun, marked by the proposed defensive alliance between the western European powers and the United States. The real military balance of power between the Soviet Union and the United States thus becomes more apparent than ever. And it is time to recognize the fact that, especially in the crucial race for supremacy in the air, the Soviet Union is pulling well ahead.

Information on Soviet armaments can never, of course, be wholly accurate. Yet the most reliable information available indicates that the existing Soviet military air strength of 14,000 combat planes more than equals that of the rest of the world combined. What is more important, there is evidence that the Soviets are achieving an immense production lead. During the last year, the Soviet Union is believed to have produced just short of 7,000 military planes, equal to slightly more than 70 per cent of world combat plane production. The United States was a poor second with 14 per cent of world production, and the rest of the world trailed.

Statistics are dull, but these statistics are worth pondering. Nor do they tell the whole story. The war-developed jet-propelled fighter plane has made all other types of fighter obsolete. According to those who should know, the Soviet factories last year turned out upwards of 1,700 jet fighters, in five different designs. During the same period, the United States produced less than one-fifth that number of jets. This year, the Soviets are stepping up jet production to more than 2,500 planes.

New Long-Range Planes

Even more disturbing to those responsible for American security has been very recent evidence that the Russians are now attempting to produce what had previously been an Anglo-American monopoly—a long-range strategic air force. During the war, the Soviet air force was strictly tactical. But in the last few weeks, mass formations of heavy long-range bombers, patterned on the American B-29, have appeared in the Russian skies. Soviet technicians have also produced a modification of the B-29 with a longer fuselage for troop transport.

It is estimated that with existing aircraft, plus gliders, the Soviets could now transport in the neighborhood of 65,000 troops to any point in an area which includes most of Europe, the Middle East and North Africa. With the B-29 type bomber, moreover, Soviet aviators, flying one way from existing Soviet bases, could reach any point in the United States except for the tip of Florida and small portions of Texas.

These facts, of which most Americans are blissfully unaware, are certainly alarming. To be sure, they are no doubt less alarming than they appear at first glance. For the great Soviet air superiority is in part at least illusory. Many planes in the vast Soviet air force are of a type long ago declared obsolete by the United States air force. Moreover, although the Soviets have capable technicians, American technical capacity is still far superior.

Duplications Difficult

Of the five Soviet jet designs, for example, only one is believed to rival American designs in speed and range. And that one is a close imitation of the American P-84 (Republic Thunderjet). Moreover, there is evidence that the Soviets are not entirely sucessful. The new Soviet long range bomber is undoubtedly an exact copy of three American B-29's which were forced down in Siberia toward the end of the war, and which the Russians refused to return. Yet the Soviet technicians evidently had trouble trying to copy the extremely hard-to-make wheel assemblies, for some months ago the Soviets attempted unsuccessfully to buy several hundred B-29 wheel assemblies from an American company.

Finally, it is quite clear that in the long run the American industrial potential is immensely greater than that of the Soviet Union. Yet certainly there are no grounds for complacency. The western powers cannot hope to rival the Soviet ground forces. The Russians put more than 600 divisions in the field during the war, the United States less than 100. Anglo-American sea power is supreme, but sea power is incompletely effective against a massive continental land power. Moreover in their more candid moments, Navy men will admit that no effective defense has been found for the new Soviet-German submarine capable of submerging indefinitely and of speeding under water at 17 knots. And the Soviet Union holds Europe hostage against the atomic bomb, during the dwindling period of the American atomic monopoly.

The implications are clear. A western European military alliance to forestall further Soviet expansion is coming into being. Without American military strength to support it, this military alliance will be meaningless. The effective American military strength requires decisive superiority in the air. Air superiority will not be achieved cheaply. But the possible cost of allowing the Soviets indefinitely to increase their lead in the air is not pleasant to contemplate.

Spiritual force is stronger than material; thoughts rule the world.

Throw Out Those Movie Fight Decisions.

My nose is bashed, one eye is closed,
I have two cauliflower ears;
To get myself in shape again
May take some six or seven years;
I swung my best push at a guy...
And then extinguished were the lights
For men don't fall the way they do
In all those motion picture fights.

II.

Why stand for irritating things?
Why tolerate a boor or pest
When one can double up one's fist
And trust to luming for the rest?
Thus did I reason as I swung—
(And then blacked out as in a dream)—
No guy collapses in a heap
The way the movies make it seem.

III.

Must one endure those fellows who
Get on one's nerves so often when
A punch propelled with main or might
Can bring a speedy count of ten?
I thought not, and I took a poke
With skill I fancied rather good ..
He didn't crash down in a heap
As all those movies said he would.

IV.

Need one show patience to extremes?
Need anybody bear too much?
I thought not as I took my stance
And summoned up the Dempsey touch
The next I knew a pretty nurse
Was saying, "Now he's coming to..."
Nobody seems to take a punch
The way those movie victims do!

V.

Not long ago I got fed up
With some one easy to dislike;
"Now is the time," I said to me
"To give it everything and strike!"...
I wound up in a rubbish heap
A half a block across the way...
Opponents do not seem to fail
Quite like the movie pictures say!

VI.

So now I train, and pretty hard,
For any trouble that I start,
For pugilism I have learned
Is not a motion picture art;
And when I swing I have help near
To guard against the bugle's "taps"..
No wallop has the lethal sting
Shown in the movie picture scraps!

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: Tomorrow is my birthday and if you think I'm going to let you print which one, you're wrong. Happy birthday to me! Another year of my pleasant life is gone, long live Uncle George, May I wave forever.

If I knew now what I knew when I was half this age I'd still be the smartest fellow around these parts. But my knowledge keeps dwindling as it gets crowded aside by experience. None of the things I've reached conclusions about down through the years ever turned out that way and I find myself at this point knowing nothing at all—not even knowing for sure that I know nothing at all.

It seems to stand to reason I must have learned something by being alive longer than the insurance men hoped I'd be in their most optimistic moments. The trouble is that what I know doesn't seem to have any general application. For example, I know how to scramble eggs to my own satisfaction, so what? Your aunt has a different way of scrambling them, to her satisfaction.

I can hang a door, but it isn't the way a card-bearing union carpenter would hang it, and it isn't the way Albert Smathers, who doesn't be a card, would hang it. I watched him hang one last week at the Griffiths place. I know how I feel about politics, but it doesn't seem to be the way anyone else feels, so I've quit talking about politics.

All the secrets and techniques I have are the same way—of value and interest to me only. I can bowl over a rabbit three times out of five, land a frisky bass, put on a shingle roof, meet my taxes, get along with my wife, run this little business, get along with dogs and children, write a letter on my trusty Oliver—all important accomplishments, but not the kind of thing that would attract any attention in an obituary. No one ever says, "There goes a powerful figure in this community."

While I never have been one to hide my opinions under a bushel, when I had them to hide, they too are inconsequential. At least they don't strike me as being important enough to cram down anybody's throat. In fact, right now I can think of but one opinion that I even take the trouble to express any more, which happens to be my opinion that it's shortsighted to use up natural resources that could be replaced without replacing them—as shortsighted as it would be to use up money capital without putting anything back into the business to keep it going. But no one seems to care about that either, so I never mention it unless someone jumps out of a speeding automobile, grabs me by the lapels and demands to know what I think about it. That doesn't happen very often.

My mother used to say I was a spring lamb and just about as awkward. I haven't improved much, but it has been fun to stumble about all these years and nibble in the green pastures. As I said before, happy birthday to me. Long may I wave. I hope you send me the usual present. I have just run out. Give my regards to the family.

PAVEL TIGRID
en for United Press

CH, March 10 — Prime Klemet Gottwald forced Eduard Benes to sur- Czechoslovakia to the by threatening to nds of armed workers, waiting, into the gov- castle.

previous day, Benes had ved by Defense Minis- Svoboda, whose troops could have stopped the Communists.

Benes knew all hope of resistance was gone when he faced Gottwald on the afternoon of Feb. 25 in the Prague castle. It was a stormy exchange during which Benes remarked that Gottwald was playing the same role Hitler formerly played against nations he wanted to absorb.

Gottwald demanded that Benes accept without further delay the resignation of 12 members of the Czech cabinet and replace them with ministers who would give the Communists control of the nation.

The deciding factor, perhaps was Gottwald's threat of arrest for non-Communist leaders, and his promise of safety for them if Benes met his demands—a promise that was not kept.

Gottwald told the president, "It does not matter whether you sign up. There are tens of thousands of armed workers waiting now in Wencheslas Square. If you refuse to sign, I am going to lead these tens of thousands up to the castle and right into this room. Several thousands of armed men, militia and police are now massed in Vladislavova street. They await only the order to join the others. I assure you with all these men around you will not be able to resist the will of the people."

Now a Prisoner

Benes capitulated. Now he is a virtual prisoner at his country home in Sezimovo Usti.

I gathered these facts from representatives of the Czech Democratic parties who were able to escape to the American zone in Germany. For security reasons their names cannot yet be revealed.

Soviet officials fully approved the events in Czechoslovakia in advance. The Czech crisis developed very quickly following the arrival on Feb. 19 at the Prague airfield of Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister V. A. Zorin, who formerly was the Russian ambassador to Czechoslovakia.

It has been established that Zorin brought from Moscow orders for the Czech Communists to go ahead with their putsch. Zorin talked personally with several non-Communist ministers of the Czech government in an attempt to win their approval of the new government.

Zorin reportedly said that the "revolutionary changes" in Czechoslovakia were made with the Kremlin's full consent.

Benes realized the gravity of the situation from the beginning, but he refused to give in.

Sends "No Surrender" Message

On Sunday, Feb. 22, Benes sent a message to several Democratic ministers and members of parliament saying he would not surrender to the Communist demands for a Communist-controlled cabinet.

On Monday, Feb. 23, the president sent for Svoboda, his defense minister, who officially was a non-party man.

"Are you with me or against me?" Benes asked Svoboda.

"I am with you under any circumstances," Svoboda replied.

"Can I rely on you?" the president persisted.

"I am at your service," Svoboda assured Benes.

Twenty-four hours later, on Feb. 24, Svoboda betrayed Benes. He issued a proclamation stating that the Czech army "will never march against the people." In the Communists' vocabulary, "the people" means only "Communist people."

Svoboda also issued a general order cleansing "all reactionary elements" from the Czech army. Immediately the army purge was in full swing. Hundreds of officers suddenly were given leaves and Communist officers were moved up quickly to replace them.

The same day Gottwald pressed Benes for a decision on his cabinet demands. He said, "Mr. President you have to accept the resignation of these 12 ministers. Here is a list with the names of new members for my cabinet. It does not matter whether or not you sign it. The result will be the same. But I advise you strongly to sign."

It is the opinion of myself and other Czech exiles that the Communists will not allow President Benes to resign—at least they are going to prolong the present period of uncertainty.

Gottwald is now the virtual master of the nation and of the presidential castle. The president put up a great fight, but the odds were too great.

White Wants State Program To Prevent Delinquency.

By The United Press

COSHOCTON, March 10—Aid for old age pensioners and prevention of juvenile delinquency today were placed high on the campaign platform of William L. White of Newark, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination at the May 4 primary elections.

White, in a talk before the Coshocton Townsend club last night, charged that the state is not spending "one thin dime" to prevent juvenile delinquency but instead is building a $100,000 fence around the Scioto Ordnance Plant at Marion for use as a boys industrial school.

"Ohioans want a chance for their children to grow up in a society free of the dangerous atmosphere created by inefficient law enforcement, inadequate play facilities and antiquated educational systems," the candidate said.

White also advocated construction by the state of cottages for old age pensioners similar to those built by the Loyal Order of Moose at Moosehaven, Fla.

"We need an old age pension and protection system whereby the worthy citizens of Ohio can spend their last years in peace enjoying the life they richly deserve," he said.

INVALID WHO LOVED CHILD WINS REWARD

By The United Press

SHELBY, Miss.—The effort of a sick man to entertain a child who came to cheer him up has resulted in a touch of fame and fortune for the victim.

Cogdell Bullock—called Coggy by his friends—has been flat on his back for 15 years, paralyzed by arthritis.

His days were long and often painful. But his constant ray of light was Martha Anne Bagwell, 3½ and bright as a button.

Martha Anne liked Coggy, and Coggy liked her. He reveled in her friendly childish prattle, her imagination and her companionship.

Coggy entertained Martha Anne by whittling away at model airplanes. It was the first work he had done with his hands in 10 years.

Acorn Does It

One day in 1943 Martha brought Coggy a few pecans to crack. An acorn was mixed with the bunch. Looking them over casually, a spark of inspiration came.

He decided to paint an impish face on the acorn, attach it to a neck, use a pecan for a body and complete the figure with arms, feet and legs.

Martha Anne watched in fascination, not quite certain what he was doing. Suddenly she brightened.

"Coggy's made a doll," she squealed delightedly.

And so he had, for that was the first of the "Coggy Dolls," now becoming famous from coast to coast as party favors and dinner place-card markers.

Now Cogwell turns the tiny, delicate figurines out on a mass production basis with the help of his mother and sister. He's still in bed, but now he has a reason for living.

Things were different back in 1926 and '27 when he was playing football for the Delta State Teachers College. Cogwell stayed on the bench—most of the time, for he had a strange, gnawing pain in his hip.

He was graduated in 1929, took his master's degree in mathematics at Kentucky University when he was 22. The pain persisted.

He entered Duke University for his Ph.D. and wound up in a hospital with diabetic coma. He recovered, left school, returned to Delta State to teach mathematics on a graduate scholarship in 1931.

But by January, 1932, the mysterious pains had grown alarmingly.

Coggy Responds

Flat on his back, Bullock's body painfully stiffened into a sitting position. With only limited use of his arms and a few fingers, his days were grim.

But then there was Martha Anne—now grown to almost eight—and the inspiration of childhood. Coggy Bullock responded.

Besides dolls, he carves other tiny objects from balsam wood—things such as cotton bale earrings, bracelets, buttons, lapel buttons, watch fobs, brooch pins and rings.

In June, 1947, his "Coggycraft" items won a special award at the Doll Show of the American Hobby Federation in New York.

the Wisconsin returns. From his Pacific battle headquarters he sent word as follows:

"I request that no action be taken that would link my name in any way with the nomination. I do not covet nor would I accept it." What Gen. MacArthur might have said if he had won that 1944 primary makes interesting speculation. Now the general is in the race again for the Republican presidential nomination opposed by two young men, both of whom out-polled him four years ago.

Either Gen. MacArthur or Mr. Stassen might tip over Gov. Dewey's bandwagon in their big mid-western engagement.

Fire Chain Kills Man, Causes $75,000 Loss

ZANESVILLE, March 10—When kerosene from a blow torch spread over the clothing of James W. Stiles, 19, last night, it started a chain of circumstances that caused a $75,000 fire and took his life.

After Stiles' clothing caught fire, flames spread to the shed he was working in at the Ohio Ferro-Alloys corporation in nearby Philo. Then a loading platform caught fire, an oil tank exploded, two freight cars on a siding were destroyed and a large building burned down.

Stiles died of burns several hours later.

and that classes will be carried on as usual until a "better interpretation" of the supreme court's action is made. He expressed the opinion that such matters "do not move quickly," and that in all probability therefore, the religious instruction classes will be continued until the end of the school year.

More than 2,000 children of third through sixth grades in 11 public school buildings of Marion receive, voluntarily, by consent of parents, the religious instruction one class period a week.

J. W. Baker, chairman of the religious education committee of the Marion County Council of Churches, stated today that a meeting of the committee will be held Friday night to determine what is to be done here in behalf of the religious education classes in the schools.

Council Studies Problem

On a national scale, the problem is being considered by the International Council of Religious Education with headquarters at Chicago. The Associated Press reported from there. The International Council, saying the supreme court's decision banning the use of public school property in religious instruction "must be respected," studied new plans today to continue the classes affecting more than 2,000,000 students.

The council's new policy, a spokesman said last night, has not been determined. However, he said, it will include "full compliance" with the decision holding unconstitutional the voluntary religious classes in the Champaign, Ill., public schools.

The council advises 3,000 communities with schools in 46 states enrolling more than 2,000,000 students, said Dr. Roy G. Ross, general secretary. It is the official agency of 40 Protestant denominations and 669 council of churches.

Ross said that "it is obvious this (the decision) will mean the discontinuance of use of public school buildings for religious classes as is now the practice of 40 per cent of these communities."

He described the decision as a "great blow to weekday religious education," and an "indication of a changing government attitude toward religion."

In Champaign, school officials said the classes probably would be continued until receipt of the high court's decision which was on the appeal of Mrs. Vashti McCollum, wife of a University of Illinois professor and self-styled atheist. She charged that her son, James Terry, 12, was embarrassed by being the only child in his school room at Champaign who did not take religious instruction.

WASHINGTON, March 10 — The United States population reached a new high of 145,340,000 at the start of this year after 1947 proved the biggest single year of growth in history.

The census bureau said today a record number of babies, 3,908,000 were born in 1947.

Continuance of a low death rate and a net immigration of about 213,000 persons also helped the net boost last year.

In the matter of the Linn Joint County Ditch and the Little Scioto River Improvement No. 393, petitioned for by Richard A. Church, et al.,

To each person signing or named in the petition and to each other person affected by said improvement.

You and each of you are hereby notified that on the 25th day of February, 1948, the above named petitioner filed a petition with the Auditor of Marion County, Ohio, for repairing the drain of the Linn Joint County Ditch, filling part of said open ditch and the location, construction, straightening, deepening and widening of part of the Little Scioto River.

The following is the course and termini of said proposed improvement, to-wit:

Commencing in the Linn Joint County Ditch in the south line of the west half of the southeast quarter of Section 4 in Wyandot County at the south line of lands owned by Hoover Brown; thence following the line of said Linn Joint County Ditch, repairing and replacing the tile in the same to where said Joint County Ditch becomes an open ditch in the east half of the southeast quarter of Section 16 in Grand Prairie Township, Marion County, Ohio, and continuing the tile with tile of sufficient size, 600 feet farther down stream, and cleaning out and deepening the remaining part of said open ditch to where the same empties into the Little Scioto River at about the south line of the southeast quarter of Section 16 in Grand Prairie Township, Marion County, Ohio; thence following the channel of said Little Scioto River but straightening, deepening and widening the same to where the Little Scioto River runs under the right-of-way of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, or far enough to give a good and sufficient outlet to the lands to be drained by said improvement, being a total distance of about six and one-half (6½) miles.

It is claimed that the improvement will affect property owned by you.

You are therefore notified that the Joint Board of Commissioners of Marion, Crawford and Wyandot counties have fixed the 19th day of March, 1948, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the upper terminus of the improvement for the view thereon and have fixed the 29th day of March, 1948, at 10 o'clock A. Upholds Cooperatives As Monopoly Buffer

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY—A half million dollar volume of business last year was reported by manager J. C. Cross at the recent meeting of the Wyandot County Farm Bureau Cooperative. Association president Myron V. Case said successful operation was possible through cooperation of members, directors and employes.

Louis F. Warbington of Sidney as guest speaker brought a vivid report of war destruction in Europe and its effect both on men and materials. Urging his hearers never to permit monopoly to develop in America because monopoly always finally leads to oppression of the masses, Mr. Warbington said the best instrument for the control of monopolies is cooperatives.

KENTON JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FORMING

KENTON—Announcement was made today of plans for establishing a Junior Chamber of Commerce, to be affiliated with the state and national C. of C.

Given the "blessing" of the senior Chamber, which several times in the last 10 years has considered sponsoring a Junior group, some Kenton young men have won the promise of affiliation with the state body. There are at least 40 applications for membership limited to men between the ages of 21 and 35. March 15 a dinner meeting will be held and it is expected the chartering of the local group will then take place. The speaker will be Robert Rosencrans Jr., of Columbus, executive chairman of the Ohio State Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"This will not be a luncheon club," a spokesman said today. "We hope through cooperation with service and civic groups to assist in the development of the community." Membership is limited to men between the ages of 21 and 35.

OM OF SPEECH AIR DISCUSSED

T. Mason Speaks at eon of Rotary Club.

. Mason, general man- HEN, spoke to the Mar- club in its weekly eeting at Hotel Hard- n the subject, "Does Speech Include Free- ?"

n quoted from findings nside survey which erwhelming major- e nation's radio listeners e have broadcasting as this country in prefer- e government control ists in Great Britain. mmercial sponsorship is radio is maintained by an annual assessment on owners of receiving sets.

"Radio belongs to the people," Mr. Mason said. "The people have the right to be informed. The radio programs you hear nowadays are pretty much the result of our having learned what the American people want to hear and what they will actually listen to when we broadcast."

Answering critics of radio commercials, he said the survey showed a predominant majority of listeners are not opposed to advertising on the air. In the survey, he said, those who participated had an opportunity to vote on eight statements regarding radio commercials. Five of the statements criticized commercials, three commended them. Results of the poll showed that the three statements which commended radio commercials received the highest vote.

In discussing the listeners' opposition to government control of radio, the speaker pointed out that the survey showed less than 10 per cent of those polled felt that radio should be run by the government.

Harold W. Hall, program chairman for March, gave a brief talk presenting the Rotary speaker to the audience.

Guests of the club in addition to Mr. Mason were Charles M. Uline, Francis C. Wojtanowicz, F. G. Ivy and S. Newburger, all of Chicago, A. G. Black of Calumet City, Ind., Gil Lavin of Cincinnati, S. E. Slupe of Columbus, and Harry Lazear, Louis Conkle, J. Preston Crews and John Plank, all of Marion.

Reynolds Plane Heads Back to U.S. for Repairs

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, March 10 — Her wing tank leaking gasoline, the Reynolds expedition plane took off today on a dangerous return flight to the United States for repairs.

"Bill Odom said he was willing to take the chance," said Milton Reynolds as his pilot started the big flying laboratory—a converted B-24 bomber—toward the first stop, Tokyo.

The Chicago millionaire for months has been planning a radar survey of western China's lofty mountains and deep gorges.

The plane's trouble, which developed at Wake Island enroute to China last week, is expected to postpone the expedition three weeks.

Reynolds said the only company which can repair the plane is in Los Angeles.

Anturat kills rats; and killing rats saves feed. Rats are the worst of all feed wasters. A rat eats 50 lbs. of grain a year and spoils as much more.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — LLOYD GEORGE once said of Eamon De Valera:

"Negotiating with that Irishman is like trying to coop up quicksilver with a fork."

His own people used to say of him:

"He is marching on Dublin at the head of 16,000 words."

But the American-born De Valera was a flaming revolutionary who helped win the Irish Free State by terrorism and civil war.

Only his American citizenship saved this son of a Spanish father and Irish mother from being put to death after the abortive Easter day rebellion of 1916. All other leaders were executed. It was in a British jail that De Valera, a former mathematics teacher, first found leisure to learn the Einstein theory.

But those days are long past. Old friends who meet him during his present month-long visit to the land of his birth will find him a man who has graduated from violence. He has laid down his shillelagh.

The deep intensity that marked him during earlier trips to raise funds for Irish independence is gone. At 64 Dev has achieved a twinkling-eyed serenity.

Today he no longer feels that force will be needed to achieve the one remaining goal of his life—the end of partition in Ireland.

Hal Boyle

HE SPOKE OF THIS goal as he sat in the palm room of the Waldorf-Astoria, knitting his big raw-boned hands placidly and smiling through his spectacles. He looked like a fatherly professor from a small college.

Because he is no longer Irish premier—he was voted out recently after 16 years in office—he declined to talk of Irish domestic issues. But he said that, as spokesman of the opposition, "We'll be there."

"I doubt that partition will work in Palestine any more than it has in Ireland," he said, "because partition doesn't solve a problem. It just creates two more."

He was asked whether he saw any chance of achieving a united Ireland through any other avenue than force.

"Yes," he said, "through free and open debate. We got our portion without force. I am a great believer in the eventual triumph of right and common sense.

"A divided Ireland makes no sense. It will be for the good of all of us if we work to remove the disturbing issues between us. And once Ireland is united then relations between her and Britain will be as good as those between any two countries in the world."

DE VALERA DENIED that he had come over to enlist American support behind the Irish in their long campaign to annex the six northern counties still under British control. But he said American backing had been helpful in the past and he wouldn't mind it a bit if it helped unite all Ireland.

"If a man takes your watch and chain and then gives your watch back," he smiled, "you still want the chain, too."

Someone wanted to know if there was any trading done between North and South Ireland, and De Valera laughed and tugged at his plain black suit.

Yes—licit and illicit."

He said he saw no hope for peace in the world until the powers, big and little, agreed to arbitrate their differences.

How about arbitrating the question of Northern Ireland?

"I am afraid," De Valera smiled again, "that question is too close to the hearts of the Irish people. I don't believe they'd agree to outside arbitration."

HE RETAINS the dry humor he showed a quarter century ago on his release from a British prison. Then, returning to the public platform on which he had been arrested 10 months before, Dev began:

"As I was saying when I was interrupted . . ."

The fire has died down but he still has the gift of words.

Galion Pay Objectors Ask Names Withdrawn

Special to The Star

GALION, March 10—Speaking before the Galion Rotary club Monday night, Carl J. Gugler, local attorney and chairman of the club's community service committee, said he had received a number of telephone calls from persons wishing to withdraw their names from the referendum petition which last week was circulated in Galion by John P. Drouth, to block the city ordinance which set the pay of Galion's service-safety director at $600 per month.

Mr. Gugler suggested to Rotary members that effort be made to contact all petition signers to try to persuade them to withdraw their names.

Club members viewed the sound film "Tomorrow's Citizens" depicting life at Crawford County Children's home and work of the Crawford county child welfare board. Board chairman Marvin Adams, the home superintendent, gave a talk. The projector was run by Jorn Moore of the home.

STATE AID ABOVE SALES TAX "TAKE"

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 10—State aid to local governments in Ohio probably will be 3.5 per cent above sales tax collections this year.

This was indicated today by a state Chamber of Commerce survey into charges the state government is "getting rich" at the expense of cities.

The survey listed total state aid this year for local governments as $131,500,000. This figure does not include millions in road and old age pension money.

Sales tax collections this year were estimated at $126,967,549.

C. of C. officials said that during the legislature the Chamber "was inclined to agree" when the cities demanded a new formula for return of the three-cents-on-a-dollar sales tax revenues.

Dr. Arch D. Schulz, Chamber research director, said the survey was ordered to see just what the situation was.

Actually, the C. of C. took no stand immediately as to whether the survey's findings refute the cities' claims. Schulz said the Chamber's board of directors would decide that March 23.

The 1948 state aid budget includes the return of $12,000,000 in sales tax revenues to local governments; $14,000,000 in intangibles taxes; $68,000,000 in the school foundation program and $6,400,000 in poor relief.

Urge Senate To Restore 5 Ohio Water Projects

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 10—Five Ohio projects are included among those the Army engineers want the senate to restore in the record $538,875,000 waterways bills. The house cut out the Ohio projects.

The engineers made their recommendations yesterday as a senate appropriations sub committee opened hearings on the flood control and rivers and harbors program.

Ohio projects affected are Dillon Dam, $2,000,000; Massillon, $500,000; Muskingum river reservoirs, $400,000; Portsmouth-New Boston, $407,300, and West Fork reservoir, $300,000.

Quicker Ways for Draft Studied by Gen. Hershey

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey says selective service officers are studying such subjects as "how to do it quicker if we have an atomic war." But, he added quickly today, the study program was not prompted by any international crisis.

Recalling that the selective service act expired a year ago, the wartime draft director said the government is training state selective service officers to expedite a manpower procurement program in any emergency.

The program, begun in January, is "entirely a voluntary thing," said Hershey. Subjects include what to do at National Guard summer camps and at weekly drills.

Goble Knows Nothing Of Draft Board Reopening

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 10—If draft board activities are to be reopened in Ohio, the state's World War II selective service director doesn't know anything about it.

Adj. Gen. Chester W. Goble said last night reports that draft boards might be revived nationally probably resulted from a recent survey of how many former members would serve again if the necessity arose.

District Lumber Dealers Hear Ohio Secretary

Findley M. Torrance of Xenia, secretary of the Ohio Retail Lumber Dealers association, was guest speaker Tuesday night for the association's 11th district meeting held at the Hotel Harding.

The dinner meeting was attended by 25 members from the eighth county district. Richard W. Flowers, of the Farm and Home Lumber Co. of Caledonia, chairman of district 11, presided at the meeting.

Mr. Torrance's talk centered on the general business conditions in the building trade and noted an uncertain outlook for the business at the present time. Marion will again be host to the district meeting in April, it was announced.

UN PREPARES FOR TRANSFER TO PARIS

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, March 10—The United Nations will open general assembly offices in Paris' Trocadero about April 1, a high official says.

This year's 57-nation assembly will begin Sept. 24 at the Paris site. Officials here are working at top speed to clear away the mountain of details connected with the virtual transfer of the whole UN across the Atlantic for a short stay.

David B. Vaughan, UN director of conferences and general services, has been assigned the key role in the move. Vaughan, a former official in the U. S. commerce department, was instrumental in preparing Hunter college quarters in New York for the UN when the peace agency first came to the United States in March 1946.

Present plans call for an almost complete shutdown of Lake Success from Aug. 1 to Nov. 1 or later. Secretary General Trygve Lie has requested all UN bodies not to schedule meetings here for that period. Indications were that all would be able to comply except the security council, which is bound by its rules to meet every 14 days or more often as necessary. Officials are hoping however, that the council calendar will be clear for that period and only token sessions will be necessary.

Moving of equipment and personnel to Europe will get under way in the spring. Efforts will be made to give UN employes residing in Europe their home leave and vacations prior to the assembly sessions. They will leave here no later than Aug. 1.

PROFITS DECREASE

By International News Service

AKRON, March 10—The Seiberling Rubber company of neighboring Barberton reported today a net profit of $421,614 in 1947 as compared with $1,124,141 in 1946. President J. P. Seiberling said that the drop in earnings could be "traced principally to a second-quarter loss from the first strikes in the company's 26-year history." The strike lasted six weeks. Net sales for the year were $32,116,590, or only slightly under those of $33,275,546 in 1946. Earnings for the year were equivalent to 58 cents a share, compared with $3 the preceding year.

LEGION PRESSES ON IN STATE CAMPAIGN

Marion Post Part of District Threatening Lead.

The Sixth District of the Ohio Department American Legion, of which Marion is a part, is now in second place in the statewide membership drive with a score of 85 per cent of the possible membership enrolled. They are now threatening the lead of the Eleventh District (Toledo), first place holders in the drive, who have enrolled 87 per cent of their potential membership, D. J. MacDonald, of 185 Chicago avenue, district vice commander announced today.

The membership contest will end when one or the other of the state's districts attains a score of 100 per cent of their membership goal. The district first accomplishing this will be declared the winner of the state contest and accorded the honor of leading the parade at the Legion's state convention in Columbus August 7 at 4 p. m. The purchase of a new American Legion home in Columbus for use as a state headquarters was voted by the Ohio department's executive committee, of which Mr. MacDonald is a member, when the committee met last Sunday in Columbus.

The executive committee also announced a new disaster relief program for Ohio with the stated aim of supplementing services of public authorities in event of disaster, MacDonald said.

LEGION AUXILIARY WINS DISTRICT CONTEST PRIZE

At a meeting of the auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, Monday night in the Dugout, an announcement was made that the unit had received first prize of $5 in the Sixth district for having the greatest number of points in a recent membership campaign conducted throughout the district.

An Easter box was completed to be sent to the unit's adopted ward at the Dayton Veterans hospital, and plans also were made to send an Easter box to the Xenia Children's Home.

Final plans were made for initiation to be held Wednesday, March 31. In conjunction with the initiation, a special program will be presented in observance of Pan Americanism month. All members who have not been initiated are urged to attend this meeting.

An announcement was made of a special sewing meeting to be held Wednesday night in the Dugout at which time slippers will be made for the veterans in hospitals. All members are asked to assist and are to meet at 7:30. Following the meeting, sales tax stamps were counted, the proceeds from which go for aid to veteran in hospitals.

CITY HALL CONDEMNED

By The Associated Press

SALEM, O., March 9—State Fire Marshal Ray R. Gill has ordered city officials to abandon the century-old city hall which Gill condemned in 1941 as a fire trap. Salem voters okayed a $250,000 bond issue for a new municipal building two years ago, but work never started.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

MAYBE you're wondering, with the income tax return deadline coming up March 15 on 1947 income:

1. Does the government really check every return?

2. How does the government find out when someone is cheating?

The answer is:

1. Every return is checked, at least to see that the arithmetic is all right and there's nothing obviously wrong or suspicious.

2. But only three out of every 100 returns are thoroughly checked.

And the bigger your return, the closer the look it gets from the internal revnue bureau.

James Marlow

But how does the bureau pick those three-out-of-100 returns for a thorough check? In these ways:

1. In some cases there's something so wrong on the face of the return that it rings like a firebell.

2. The bureau gets a "tip" on a certain return to watch for it.

3. And those higher incomes get a closer going over.

The internal revenue bureau has only about 45,000 employes who deal with income taxes. And that number includes:

Typists and other clerical help, plus investigators, agents and collectors, such as help you figure your tax when you go into a Revenue bureau office.

With that number of employes it's impossible for the bureau to check every return thoroughly.

FOLLOWING IS AN explanation of the check made. The figures given are for the returns filed last year. They'll hold pretty true for the returns filed by March 15.

Last year 52,820,000 people filed a tax return on their 1946 income.

Of that number, 51,170,000 had income under $7,000. The bureau checked thoroughly 1.6 per cent, or 830,000.

Another 720,000 made between $7,000 and $10,000. The bureau thoroughly check 16.7 per cent, or 120,000.

Another 730,000 made between $10,000 and $25,000. The bureau thoroughly checked 20.5 per cent, or 150,000.

Another 200,000 made $25,000 or more. The bureau put its eagle eyes on them and checked 50 per cent, or 100,000.

When you add all the figures together it comes down to a thorough check on 2.3 per cent—or 1;200,000—of the 52,820,000 returns filed.

A thorough checked also means an investigation.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

MR. "K.'s" words and his tone conveyed the idea that I, not Georges, was the person of royal rank, and that my "audiences" were not to be given lightly, even to a suppliant who once sat upon a throne.

Georges' dark eyes were black with anger, and his face, freed now from the disguising scar and makeup which Mr. "K." mercifully had permitted him to remove during the last few miles of our journey to the farmhouse, was crimsoning. I saw this from beneath my lowered lashes, for I did not wish to embarrass him by a direct look. But I answered Mr. "K.'s" request first. It would do Georges no farm, I thought, to cool his heels for a bit while he waited for someone else to speak.

"Yes, I have a message for you, which I think will be a welcome one. Katie will ring the dinner gong in something less than a half hour from now, and, from what I saw of the preparations, you may anticipate one of Katie's chicken dinners, with fixings, biscuits and everything."

"Zowie!" the FBI man exclaimed. "Will I ever be ready for that? But I don't understand. Wasn't Katie supposed to be in hysterics in her own rooms?"

Georges was almost biting his finger nails by this time, in his impotent anger at Mr. "K." for delaying his talk with me. But the FBI man was imperturbable, and I answered his query without haste. However, as always, I have a sneaking pity for anything at bay, and I knew Mr. "K." was deliberately baiting his royal charge. So, I resolved to end the colloquy with Mr. "K." as soon as possible.

"Katie was in supposed hysterics in her room," I said. "But she had prepared her dinner to the last detail before she staged her act. I am afraid I rather frightened her. At any rate, she is now in the kitchen, hobnobbing with Mrs. Ticer, usually her deadliest housekeeping enemy, and radiating sweetness and light all over the place.

"She would have suffered untold tortures if Mrs. Ticer had served you and Georges that dinner," I finished, smiling. "Two such distinguished guests, and she not on hand! It would have been unthinkable. Her hysterics ended abruptly, became a torrent of apologies and promises of noble behavior as soon as she learned the identity of our guests."

"Do you think it would be safe for me to go down to the kitchen and inquire about her progress in her 'detecatuff correspondence school course'?" the FBI man asked. "She was planning a 'post-graduate course' when last I saw her."

"I don't think she's taken it yet," I said, smiling, "but she will be thrilled to tears if you ask her about it. You may get a hot buttered biscuit ahead of time."

"I'm on my way," the FBI man said. "I'll be seeing you anon. I'll be back a couple of minutes before the dinner gong to escort you both down to the dining room."

"That will not be necessary," Georges said haughtily, and Mr. "K." gave him the indulgent smile which one turns on an unruly, temperamental child.

"I'm afraid, Georges," he said, "that you'll have to put up with my looking after you while you're out here. I have the 'Chief's' orders, and it isn't very healthy for any one of his men who has the temerity to disobey him. So it would be wiser, don't you think, for you to play along?"

He did not wait for the other man's answer, but with a lift of his hand, like a salute to me, turned and left the room. At the door, he paused.

"I am sure you are perfectly safe here," he said, "but I prefer that you lock the door behind me, and open it again only at my knock and call through the door."

"What absolute nonsense," Georges exclaimed. "With guards outside, and nobody knowing that I am here, I refuse to do any such thing."

Mr. "K." ignored him, and gave me a commiserating smile as he went through the door.

"Sorry, Mrs. Graham," he said, "but your companion gives me no choice. If he will not lock the door on the inside, I must turn the key from the outside."

Sulfa Drugs, Penicillin Aid Treatment of Meningitis

Until the discovery of such germ-killing drugs as the sulfa drugs and penicillin, the very word meningitis was something to shudder at. Attacking children far more frequently than adults, this dread disease moved with tragic swiftness toward an outcome which was quite frequently fatal.

Today, however, with the sulfa drugs, penicillin, and other advances in treatment, the doctor can meet it on more even ground and with a better-than-even chance of routing it.

Nonetheless, meningitis is still a most serious condition. Literally, it means inflammation of the covering membrane of the brain and spinal cord, but the brain itself and other organs of the body are also affected. Any one of a number of different types of germs may be responsible. Perhaps the most frequent type of meningitis is that due to the meningococcus. Those infected with this germ become very ill, very suddenly. There is high fever, vomiting, prostration, headache and, sometimes, convulsions.

Since all these symptoms may accompany other diseases, one of the most important signs of meningococcic meningitis for the doctor making the diagnosis is the presence of tiny red spots on the skin due to little hemorrhages. Pain in the joints is also significant.

But even with all these symptoms, there is only one way to make an absolute diagnosis of meningitis, and that is by means of an examination of fluid taken from the spine. In cases of meningococcic meningitis, the fluid looks cloudy and the amount of protein in it is increased. There is also a great increase in the number of white blood cells present in the spinal fluid, and as a rule the meningococcic germs are also found.

Meningitis may also be caused by pneumococci. The symptoms in general are about the same as in meningococcic meningitis. The red spots in the skin are rarely present, however. The condition starts suddenly, and the temperature is high. In these cases, also, the pneumococci may be found in the spinal fluid.

In the treatment of meningococcic meningitis, the sulfonamide drugs and penicillin are effective. In pneumococcic meningitis, penicillin is more effective than the sulfonamide drugs. In severe cases, it is probably advisable that both of these preparations be employed. The sulfonamides must be given in large doses. They can either be given by mouth or by injection under the skin. Penicillin is administered by injection into a muscle.

Another serious type of meningitis is that caused by the influenza germs. In former years, most of these patients did not recover. At the present time many of the patients get well, provided treatment is started early. For these cases, streptomycin and the sulfa drugs are especially valuable. Alexander's serum, which is manufactured by injecting influenza germs into the rabbit, and then bleeding the rabbit and using his serum, is also a valuable agent of treatment for this condition.

Meningitis may also be produced by the tuberculosis germ. Tuberculosis germs are traditionally slow but inexorable workers and consequently meningitis usually starts slowly, with only slight fever at first. Gradually other symptoms develop, such as various types of paralysis, particularly that affecting the eye muscles.

Recently, reports of cures of tuberculosis meningitis with streptomycin have appeared. Prior to the use of streptomycin, tuberculous meningitis was considered an incurable disease.

Questions and Answers

B. V.: What is phlebitis?

Answer: In phlebitis, there is a clot formed in a vein whose walls are inflamed as a result of injury or infection. The patient should go to bed and a physician should be called. The application of heat, exercise, and light massage are usually the suggested forms of treatment.

Need for New Prison Now, Ex-Warden Says

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 10 — Ohio needs another penal institution immediately, says former Warden Frank D. Henderson.

Henderson, ousted Feb. 21, as Ohio penitentiary warden, made the assertion today in his annual report on the state prison.

"The need for one or more new penal institutions is not 10 years or 20 years from now, but immediately," Henderson said, "and it is hoped that steps may be taken to achieve such a result at the earliest possible time."

His report was released by Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood. Sherwood asked for Henderson's resignation last month. Since then Ralph W. Alvis, assistant superintendent of London prison farm, has been acting warden. Henderson cited the increasing trend of penitentiary population since 1947 and predicted continued overcrowding. If there is no expansion of facilities, he warned, prison industries may be curtailed for lack of space.

Truman Foe Advises Southern Candidacy

By The United Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 10—Tennessee political leader E. H. Crump today was a candidate for delegate to the national Democratic convention, pledged never to vote for President Truman "under any circumstances all the way through." Crump announced his candidacy yesterday, saying he would advocate a "real southern Democrat" for the presidency. His opposition to Mr. Truman grew out of the President's civil rights proposal. Crump said Mr. Truman "evidently had been practicing on the development of an owlish, coffin-plate grain as a result of his effort to lynch-murder the south."

St. Mary Earns Right To Battle Bremen in Tourney Finals Friday

Irish Drub Columbus St. Mary, 54-36, for 3rd Time This Year

Marion St. Mary earned the right to meet Bremen in the class B Central district upper bracket finals Friday night by knocking Columbus St. Mary out of the running at Westerville yesterday afternoon by a 54 to 36 score.

It was all Marion St. Mary from the beginning to the end but the Columbusites did outscore the Irish in the last quarter when Coach Fetter was using his reserves.

The only way the Ramblers could have had a chance for victory was through the efforts of the giant center, Don Kaiser, who was responsible for 18 of Columbus' points. Due to the vigilant guarding of Dick Drake he dumped in only seven baskets and four charity tosses. Dick Drake scored seven baskets and a foul shot before he went to the showers early in the fourth quarter, gaining the distinction of being the only player from both teams to leave on fouls.

Baldauf Leads Irish

John Baldauf was the Irish high scorer again with 16 points from six baskets and four three throws. Dick Drake was second with 15, Dick Schuler third with 10, Dan Smith fourth with five and Bob Stuber and Jim Moloney brought up the rear with four apiece.

Other scorers for Columbus' Ramblers were Captain Donnelly with seven, Pedon with five, Demarest with three, Helber with two, and Gianvito with one.

Marion's success can be attributed to the fact that the local club had three high scoring players while the Ramblers depended mostly on the efforts of Kaiser.

Columbus St. Mary broke the ice with a foul throw by Dick Drake but a basket by Dick Drake put the locals ahead, and they held that position until the final gun.

Outscore Ramblers

The Irish outscored the Ramblers, 13-9, in the second quarter, when Johnny Baldauf connected for three baskets and a trip to the foul line, Kaiser equaled his count for Columbus. The locals led at the half, 22-13.

The Irish enjoyed their big quarter in the third frame, tallying 19 markers while holding the Ramblers to eight. All the Irish scored in this quarter led by Dick Drake with three baskets for six points. Next came Dan Smith with two baskets and a foul throw, Dick Schuler with two baskets, and John Baldauf and Bob Stuber with a two-pointer apiece. Columbus scored eight tallies on two baskets and a charity toss by Kaiser and a basket and a foul shot by Donnelly.

The Ramblers outpointed the Irish in the final stanza 15-13. Kaiser and Donnelly sparked the loser's offense with a basket and foul shot apiece.

Coach Fetter and the first six players stayed over to see the London-Bremen game.

Bremen's' Oilers will meet Marion St. Mary for the upper bracket championship Friday night at 8 in Westerville.

KLUSZEWSKI OFF TO GOOD REDLEG START

By The Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla., March 10—Ted Kluszewski is off to a good start in his second effort to make the grade with the Cincinnati Reds.

The big former Indiana university athlete banged out three singles and a three-run homer in five trips here yesterday to spark the Reds to a 13-3 win over Philadelphia Phils' in their first exhibition game of the season.

Hank Sauer and Clyde Vollmer also smashed circuit drives for Cincinnati.

Kluszewski, who hit .377 for Memphis of the Southern Association last year, must keep belting the ball at a merry clip to remain on the Reds' squad. His defensive playing, both at first base and in the outfield, definitely is not major league caliber.

He played first base yesterday when illness kept Baby Young, regular guardian of the initial sack, out of action.

The Reds got 20 hits off three Phil pitchers: Dutch Leonard, the veteran knuckleballer, and a pair of rookies, Dick Koecher and Chuck Bicknell. Howard Fox, Eddie Erautt and Everett (Red) Lively held Philadelphia to eight safeties.

Kluszewski's homer with two mates aboard helped the Reds off to a 4-1 lead in the first inning. Outfielder Sauer hit his round-tripper during a five-run outburst in the fourth frame. Vollmer's homer, also a three-run blow, came in the seventh.

Shortstop Eddie Miller, traded to Philadelphia by Cincinnati several weeks ago after he unleased a verbal blast at the Redleg club and several players, did not come here for yesterday's contest.

The Reds move to Bradenton late today for a game with the Boston Braves.

MIAMI GOLF WINNERS

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., March 10—Cary Middlecoff, a 24-year-old dentist of Memphis, Tenn., and 38-year-old Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, a veteran of the fairways and holder of the PGA title, are the new champions of the Miami International four ball golf tournament. The two clinched the victory one up on the 36th hole yesterday from Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich., and Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles.

THE roles assigned St. Mary, Bremen, Marysville and Fredericktown by the Central district class B basketball coaches at Westerville about ten days ago have been well played .... Those four teams were seeded in the tourney because of their fine pre-tournament record, and all four of them are still in the running....Marysville and Fredericktown are favored to win in the lower bracket semifinals tonight and then battle it out for their half of the championship Saturday night....St. Mary and Bremen came through in style last night and will meet Friday at 8:00 p. m. in the Otterbein gym for the upper bracket championship and a trip to the regional tournament.

BREMEN will probably turn out to be the toughest team the Irish have met all season.... They've won all 26 of their encounters this season—a perfect record... But you can count on the Irish to give their all in the Friday night game... They've tasted defeat in the finals before.

OHIO WESLEYAN'S distance runner, Quentin Brelsford, is rated as having an outside chance to make the Olympic 1,500-meter team which will represent the United States in the London games .... Brelsford has been plagued with bad luck in his meets this year, skidding in the snow to lose the A.A.U. cross country race at Michigan State last fall, and then losing a shoe in the Wanamaker mile which Galloping Gill Dodds won in a breeze at the Milrose games held last month in Madison Square Garden .... Dodds, who subsequently came down with the mumps, lowered his indoor mile record in that race to 4:05.3.... Dodds' recovery is expected in time for the final Olympic trials at Evanston, Ill., July 9 and 10 ....Other strong contenders for a berth on the Olympic distance team are Jerry Karver of Penn State and Bill Mack of Michigan State.

Ashland, Massillon Feel Kiss of Death As Upsets Shake High School Tourneys

By JOHN BARRINGTON
INS Sports Writer

Three important upsets rattled through high school basketball halls today and doubtless sent shivers of foreboding through other favorites still treading the rocky tournament path.

Two outstanding class A teams, Massillon and Ashland, felt the kiss of death, while New Knoxville, 1947 state championship runner-up, was blasted in the Celina class B tourney.

At Akron, Massillon (15-4) was massacred by mediocre Akron Buchtel (7-7) by a 47-to-26 score. Even more surprising was a one-point, 35-to-34 licking Bellevue managed to hang on Ashland. The A's had lost only once in 20 precious starts, while Bellevue had a 13-4 record.

Delphos St. John put the finger on New Knoxville, 45 to 39. The Rangers had won 23 and lost only one before St. John proved the Nemesis.

Meanwhile, two undefeated teams—Akron Garfield in class A and Bremen in class B—escaped the upset fever to win their 16th and 26th games, respectively. Garfield trounched Medina, 47 to 24, and Bremen disposed of London, 40 to 27.

Another pair of perfect records are at stake in tonight's battling when Findlay and defending state champion Middletown resume action. The Middies seek their 21st straight victory of the campaign against Dayton Fairview (10-9), while Findlay (21-0) has a dangerous foe in Fostoria (13-6).

In other top class A battles tonight, Newark (19-3) and Columbus Central (23-1) play in one Columbus semi-final while Grandview (19-3) meets Columbus South (12-11) in the other; Akron South (13-3) plays rejuvinated Barberton (8-12); Akron North (12-5) tangles wth Stow (8-9); Ashtabula (17-3) meets Cleveland Heights (13-4), and Mansfield (16-5) bumps into Mansfield Madison (17-2).

ORLANDO, Fla., March 10 — The Washington Senators, weakest hitting club in the American league in 1947, are pinning their hopes this year on a few rookies with fat minor league batting records.

The Nats are hoping that Southern Association graduates Al Kozar and Gil Coan can maintain their .339 and .338 pace in the big time. They also have two hard-hitting rookies up from the class B Big State league, outfielders Dean Stafford (.378) and Larry Drake (.375).

SARASOTA, Fla., March 10 — Boston Red Sox infielder Johnny Pesky says he will be a better third baseman than he ever was a shortstop—no easy task for a player named to the American league All-Star team in two of his three major league seasons. Vern Stephens will play shortstop.

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Ken Trinkle, star New York Giant relief pitcher, is the lone unsigned member of the team. He became the last Giant holdout when shortstop Buddy Kerr agreed to terms yesterday.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Johnny Lindell, who became the New York Yankees' regular left fielder when Charley Keller was injured last year, is not resting on his laurels. The hero of the Yanks' World Series triumph, collected three hits and drove home four runs as the Yanks won their first exhibition game of the season, 8-6 from Detroit yesterday.

TRIBE PREPARES FOR EXHIBITION JOURNEY

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz., March 10—The Cleveland Indians went through their final drills here today before embarking upon an 18-day tour of major and minor league training camps on the west coast.

Manager Lou Boudreau will leave a group of 10 behind, all of whom may be recalled to join the club before it returns to Tucson. Three of them, Pat Seerey, Walt Judnich and Jim Hegan, will receive batting instructions from Hank Greenberg, who still is undecided about joining the Tribe as a player or coach or both.

Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones, stellar halfback of the Cleveland Browns, allowed the Indians two hits in four innings yesterday as Cleveland defeated the University of Arizona 7 to 2 in a benefit exhibition before 1,500 fans.

The teams exchanged batteries, with Cleveland pitchers and catchers working for the collegians.

Jones, who dreams of a major league mound career but admits there is only a shred of hope of making the leap from the sandlots to the Indians, settled down after a wild first inning to retire nine of the next 10 batters.

The grid star was charged with the loss because of two runs he permitted in the first inning. Boudreau explained afterwards that Jones was "tight" at the outset, probably because of a cool breeze that swept the field. The manager was impressed with the chunky righthander's performance after the shaky start, however, and plans to use him again during the California exhibition tour.

Of the Indians' five hits off the rookie twirlers, the only solid smash was delivered by Joe Gordon in the eighth inning, a home run far over the left field barrier.

A five man battle royal has been signed for the weekly wrestling show at the armory Thursday night. The five wrestlers are Farmer Jones, Bill Murray, Len Hughes, Al Alexander and a new boy from Belleville, Ill., Jack Kelley. The first man to get beat in the battle royal is through for the evening, the next two to have their shoulders pinned come back for the forty-five minute semi-final and the last two left in the ring return for the two hour main event. All matches are for the best two out of three falls. This battle royal should line up with the best ever staged at the armory. Two local boys who call themselves Donald Duck and Mickey Mouse will wrestle the ten minute prelim at 8:30. Prices remain the same—50c-75c and $1.00. Call Markert & Lewis Cigar Store early for your reservations.—Adv.

Comstock, Fleming, Mayers, Green And Jones Make Star's First Team

By BILL DIEM

The havoc wrought about the county by the mighty basketball teams of Pleasant and Caledonia told today in The Star's 1948 All County basketball team which shows two men each from the two powers on the first team—Kenneth Comstock and Gene Fleming from Caledonia, and Charles Mayers and Dick Green from Pleasant with the fifth selection being Richard Jones of Kirkpatrick.

The race for positions on the team, which was picked by vote of the county coaches, was a close one, with Caledonia's John Robertson, LaRue's Harold Brocklesby and Burke Ballinger, Prospect's Ralph Long, and Morral's Jim Weston pushing the top five men for positions. These five court luminaries made the second team.

Based on Ability

Selections to the All County teams were made on the basis of playing ability without regard to positions played and therefore the first team has three forwards and but one guard while the second team has two centers and but one forward.

Men making honorable mention on the All County squad include Fred McCumber of Morral, Ralph Wilson of LaRue, Harold Williams, Walter Yost, and Jim Brown of Meeker, Ron Gorby of Pleasant, and Dale Irey of Claridon.

Kenneth Comstock, five-foot-ten Caledonia forward, besides breaking the county scoring record by counting 235 points in 11 league games, was a good floor man and defensive player.

Gene Fleming, another outstanding scoring threat for the Donians, meshed 148 in the league play. He was particularly good on rebounding and scoring on tip-in shots and was labeled a good team player by his coach, Thurman Wright. The six-foot-two center will be back with the Donians next year as he is only a junior.

Excellent Playmaker

John Robertson, the third Caledonia entry on the two All County teams, was an excellent playmaker and was a fine defensive man. John, a guard, measures five-ten. He plans to enter Otterbein this fall.

Charles Mayers, smooth Pleasant forward who led the scoring parade a year ago, came in second this season with 204. Only five feet, five inches tall, Mayers was one of the fastest players and sharpest shooters in the county. He plans to enter Miami university.

Dick Green, Pleasant's second selection on the All County team, has the reputation of being one of the ablest ball handlers in the circuit. He's an inch taller than Mayers, and at 148 pounds, weighs 10 pounds more. He also is looking to Miami for his college education.

Big Dick Jones, Kirkpatrick center, ended third in the county scoring column with 185 points and was outstanding on rebound play. In four games he scored more than 20 points, and was held to fewer than ten in but two encounters.

Played With Brace

Ralph Long, Prospect center honored on the second team, stands six-two and though he played with a brace on his neck all year, managed to score 127 points in ten league games for an average of 12.7 a game. Miami university likewise holds an attraction for him, and little wonder—his coach, Glen Kessler, was a Little All America basketballer at Miami.

Harold Brocklesby, who played an outstanding game as one of the pivotmen of LaRue Coach Don Burton's double pivot offense, scored 159 points in ten games and was clever at all the tricks expected of a pivot man. Standing five-eleven, Brocklesby possesses a marvelous jumping ability that enabled him to rebound well.

LaRue's other man on the second team, Burke Ballinger, excelled as a clever faker, passer, and playmaker, and Burton considers him the best ball handler that the county has seen in many years. He suffered a broken ankle late in the football season and missed the early games. Then in December, he caught scarlet fever and was out until the last of the season and thus was never able to reach his peak for the year. A good defensive player, he was exceptionally sharp at intercepting passes. He is a senior, as is Brocklesby.

Jim Weston, six-foot-one Morral center, was another excellent rebound man and has another year of high school basketball before him. He placed within the top ten county scorers with 121 points in 11 games.

NEW YORK, March 10—The market clung to its narrow irregular course today. Investors and other favored issues took the upside in a few active opening, but gains and leaders in other fields failed to follow. Hopes over international developments and tax cut prospects continued to bolster customers' enthusiasm. Declaration of its first dividend since 1946, a $1 payment, Western Union pushed up more than 1½ points to a new 1948 high. Lagging were Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Standard Oil (N.J.), Chesapeake & Ohio, Pennsylvania Railroad, Dow Chemical, Sears Roebuck and American Smelting.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

BARRY FITZGERALD, born March 10, 1888, is a veteran of the Abbey Theater in Dublin. For 20 years he worked as a British civil servant and acted as a sideline. In 1929 he became a fulltime actor. On a U. S. tour, he started film work. But he played secondary, although highly-paid roles until a part in "Going My Way" made him famous. He was born William Joseph Shields, but used a pseudonym for fear of losing his civil service job.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Two more princes of routed royalty have arrived in New York and Grover Whalen's carnation is beginning to sag from overwork.

At last count we had here nine princes, two ex-kings, one ex-premier and three ex-presidents . . . not counting Hoover.

But things are so confused that some day Whalen will pin on his carnation and run out to meet Hoover.

• • •

Most of the royalty has come to see how we conduct an election without Soviet assistance . . . It's kind of a novelty these days.

De Valera is brushing up on American politics too. I hear he said to boss Ed Flynn "I can't understand how I lost." And Flynn said "I can't either . . . Wallace was busy in the Bronx at the time."

But our election system is easy enough to understand . . . Almost any man can run for president and almost every man does.
